Dear Parents / Carers

We have been starting to feel a little bit 'Christmassy' as our new literacy unit is based on 'The Snowman' by Michael Morpergo. The children have really enjoyed the story. We have been making coil pots out of clay this week and making our own switches to add to our electrical circuits.

Homelearning:

- Read to an adult 4 times.
- Log on to mymaths and complete the lessons and homework set for you. This week it is on Roman Numerals. We haven't learnt about these yet in class, but the lessons are very easy to follow. Have fun - we will talk all about your learning next week!

Remember to finish off your Roman projects and send in photos to saunton@bishopstawton-primary.org of your finished work!
