

1. How we use volunteers' information

Data protection legislation gives those volunteering with the school the right to be informed about what personal data is held on them, how that data is used, who it is shared with and how long it is retained. This privacy notice provides this information, in general terms, in relation to information held on volunteers, as well as the lawful basis under which it is collected and retained.

If after reading this notice you have any questions relating to the data we hold or how we use it, please contact our Data Protection Officer, whose contact details are listed at the end of this notice.

Bishops Tawton Primary School is the Data Controller in charge of the data.

2. The categories of information that we process include:

- Personal identifiers (such as names and date of birth)
- Contact details (such as address and telephone numbers)
- Information on any special requirements or health conditions
- Information related to availability and the reasons for periods of unavailability

3. Why we collect and use volunteers' information

Most personal data collected is essential in order for the school to fulfil its official functions and to meet legal requirements. However, we may occasionally also seek consent to collect other personal data. We collect and use volunteers' information, for the following purposes:

- To assess your suitability for volunteering with the school
- To assess your availability for specific activities and events
- To carry out our legal duties (for example, to ensure health and safety)
- To enable appropriate checks to be completed including for safeguarding
- To enable appropriate access arrangements to be provided for volunteers who require them
- To inform volunteers of relevant information
- To inform relevant authorities/organisations in accordance with our obligations.

4. The lawful basis on which we process this information

We only collect and use volunteers' personal data when the law allows us to do so. Most personal data collected is essential in order for the school to fulfil its official functions and to meet the statutory duties placed upon it.

We may process volunteers' personal data under the following lawful bases:

- Processing is necessary to perform a task in the public interest or for our official functions and the task has a clear basis in law
- We have obtained the data subject's consent to use it in a certain way
- Processing is necessary to comply with our legal obligations
- We need to protect someone's vital interests.

Whilst the majority of personal information you provide to us is mandatory, some of it may be requested on a voluntary basis. We will inform you at the point of collection whether you are required to provide certain information to us or if you have a choice in this.

Where we have obtained consent to use personal data, this consent can be withdrawn at any time. We will make this clear when we ask for consent, and explain how consent can be withdrawn.

Some of the reasons listed above for collecting and using volunteers' personal data may overlap and there may be several grounds which justify our use of particular data.

If we need to process any special category data under Article 9 of the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR) which is of a more sensitive nature, we will only do so if we have a lawful basis to do so under Paragraph 2 of Article 9 of the UK GDPR.

5. Storing information

We hold data relating to volunteers for as long as they wish to volunteer with the school unless there is a legal obligation to retain information beyond that time. The data will be retained and disposed of in line with our Retention & Disposal Policy.

Data is held securely in accordance with our Data Protection Policy and Information Security Policy. These include strong organisational and technical measures and these policies are regularly reviewed. For more information on our data retention schedule and how we keep your data safe, please contact the Data Protection Officer whose details are at the end of this notice.

If this information is requested by the NHS Test and Trace service, the service would at that point itself become responsible for compliance with data protection legislation regarding that data. As part of safeguarding your personal data, NHS Test and Trace has in place technical, organisational and administrative security measures to protect your personal information in order to protect it from loss, misuse, unauthorised access, disclosure, alteration and destruction. NHS Test and Trace will not disclose your information to any third party unless required to do so by law (for example, as a result of receiving a court order).

We require third parties to respect the security of your data and treat it in accordance with the law. All our third party service providers are required to take appropriate security measures to protect your personal information in line with our policies. We only permit them to process your personal data for specified purposes and in accordance with our instructions.
