

Felicity and the rainbow!

One day Felicity was playing with her puppy Pepper. Felicity lived in a white, timbered snow topped house in the mountains. The house was so captivating, Pepper the Dalmatian, loved the snow and was always rolling in it. Felicity is 13 and has long, wavy brown hair and a shimmering smile her mum home schools her because the schools are to far away. That evening after Felicity finished school her and pepper walked down the wonderful, white valley they both liked adventure but not much happened in the mountains. As they were walking up the peaks, she noticed a rainbow, tall and wide so she went home to get peppers basket. Standing next to the rainbow Felicity thought to herself,

“I am going to jump in the rainbow!”

She got Peppers basket and then Pepper jumped into the white, willow basket,

“Hold on Pepper” she said excitedly

Then jumped in...

She shot up the rainbow like lightning it was so fast her eyes could hardly open but it was yet soft she landed at the bottom of the rainbow with a thud and then started to spin pepper jumped out of the basket and twirled then fell over in the snowy heap.

“That was amazing Pepper,” she said enthusiastically.

“Rough” barked Pepper

“It wasn’t that bad was it Pepper” she asked

Then they saw the large, ancient hollowed tree the long droopy green branches arched and then Felicity walked through the shaggy willow tree and saw a meadow full of magenta, scarlet, violet, blue and lots and lots of other coloured flowers it looked as if it were from a picture like the Icey cover just melted. There was still frost on the old willow tree. The grass looked rich and green it was not burnt or crisp but lightly trimmed like animals grazed it. The meadow was so secret and delicate as if it were glass you could hear birds and wild sheep calling. Felicity’s chestnut brown eyes flared as she looked across the meadow then she thought and remembered

“GOLD!!!!”,

She rushed back over the rainbow and landed with a thud on the ground then she started to dig she got a shovel from her garage where she keeps her snowmobile she dug and dug until ‘bash’ she found a block it said 1 wish. She thought and made her mind up...

“I WISH THE RAINBOW WILL SATY FOREVER”

And it did she now was home schooled in the meadow with Pepper!
